Help Haitian kids score school supplies

Your small change could make a big difference in the lives of some pretty cool kids living in Haiti.

It's easy to do. Just look around the house for loose coins sitting around and not doing anything. Gather them up and give them to the All Stars players in your home, who can then bring them to Son Light Stadium and drop them into the bucket that will sit at the end of every team row.

Our goal is to raise enough money to purchase 65 backpacks, each of which will be filled with school supplies specially selected for a group of orphaned students living in Haiti.

Each fully-stocked backpack will cost $20 a piece. So if you do the math — without a calculator? — that means we're looking to raise $1,300.

We'll keep track of how much cash each team collects each day and let everyone know who's leading. At the end of the week, the team that has raised the most money will get a very special reward: the right to come up on stage Friday night to help lead the singing of some of our favorite VBS songs of the week. It's a big deal, believe us!

Kids like these will receive backpacks filled with school supplies thanks to the money our All Stars players will raise during VBS this week. You can help too!

The backpacks will be delivered in person by a group of young adults from Faith Fellowship Church who will be traveling to Haiti this summer.

And before you ask: Extra school supplies are always welcome too, but we'd like to hit our $1,300 goal more than anything else. Thanks!

Extreme Ironing: Wrinkle Free Everywhere

Baseball, football, basketball, even soccer and hockey. You know them all.

But there are SO MANY more sports out there, some you just won't believe people actually compete in.

Today's weird sport: Extreme Ironing.

Just like it sounds, this is a sport in which people iron clothes from the most unusual and exotic locations you can imagine.

Combine a household chore with your favorite hobby, such as wave surfing or climbing mountains, and you get the idea. Or as one fundraising organization put it: "combines the thrills of an extreme outdoor activity with the satisfaction of a well-pressed shirt."

The sport seems to have come from England — a great example of the best in British humor.

The sport is said to have begun in 1997 and has since spread all over Europe and into the United States. Contests have been held and trophies awarded.

The sport is so big it inspired a sequel: Extreme cello playing.

Tomorrow we take a look at another weird sport: Underwater hockey.

We hope everybody enjoyed your first day of the VBS 2017 All Star Games. All the players sure looked good and our coaches are already reporting they expect to have a great week with the players they have.

■ The official VBS 2017 All Star Games t-shirts were handed out to all the players today. Please be sure your player wears their shirt to VBS on Tuesday. It's picture day!

We want parents to know that it's OK for you to let your players decorate their t-shirts. In past years we've seen kids color in the white letters and pictures. Others have cut the hem to make a fringe bottom. If it looks good to you, and helps kids make their t-shirt their own, we're all for it!

■ If you haven't read the main story on the front page, you really need to. Raising money for school backpacks for orphaned kids is a great idea and a perfect way to share God's love.

Special thanks to our "craft queens" — Lauren Schrader and Lindy Free-land— for arranging this. Keep them in your prayers because they will be leading the small contingent of young adult women who will be delivering the backpacks in person this July.

■ OK, let's get this out of the way early in the week. Once again, the official VBS t-shirt design includes a reference to our favorite NFL team, the Minnesota Vikings. The first player who can tell Mr. Banke exactly where it is will win a prize. No multiple guesses. No groups, please. One person only. You have until Friday night.

Highlight Reel is here to share your stories about VBS, so send us your news tips. Text them to 321-698-0591 or email them to vbs2017@aol.com. We need full names and ages or grades, please. It's all due by 2 p.m. each day.
